Rough Draft ; Peer Edits
Objective

- You will edit your classmate’s papers today.
- After each section, rotate with another classmate’s paper that you haven’t graded yet.
- After today, you should understand the expectations of your paper as well as receive feedback to your own.
- In the next rough draft, we will peer edit for content and elaboration.
- Your grade for the first rough draft is based on:
  - Did you bring it?
  - Is it completed?
  - Turnitin doesn’t flag it more than 20%
  - Work cited page is correct
First Up: MLA Citations

1. Write your name at the top of the paper:

   MLA : Ms. Montoya

2. Start off with the work cited page:

   - Alphabetical order (Go by first letter in citation)
   - Numbered (7-10 sources)
   - Proper citation *See MLA handout
   - Only 5 are websites
   - Are they credible? Questionable?
Cont. MLA Citations

Check that all facts, quotes, text evidence is given credit.

- Books & Journals:

  (Author’s last name pg. #) ---- (Montoya 89)

- When a source has no known author, use a shortened title of the work instead of an author name. Good for websites with no author ("Impact of Global Warming") ; (Impacts of Global Warming)

- For a source with two authors, list the authors’ last names in the text or in the parenthetical citation.

  (Best and Marcus 9).
But before you do, write a strength & a weakness about this paper.

each statement should be about 10 words.
Write your name on this new paper as:

Header/Thesis: Montoya
Final slide: MLA Citations

Header:

- First page, Upper left corner:
  - Your name
  - Instructor’s name
  - Course
  - Date
- Upper right corner:
  - Last name 1

*continue to number pages throughout.

Section Headers:

*Section off your paper to topics to improve document readability:

1. Early Writings
   CONTINUE TEXT
2. The London Years
   CONTINUE TEXT
3. Traveling the Continent
   CONTINUE TEXT
4. Final Years
   CONTINUE TEXT
Thesis Statement

- Compound sentence; 30-40 words.
- A strong overview of topic
- No vague words; Clear and specific
- Should answer these questions:
  - Is it specific enough? - Does it outline my essay
  - “So what?” - Why is this topic important?
  - Does the reader wonder:
    - How is this helpful?
    - Why does this even matter?
    - Or any other variation of “how” or “why” questions.
- Rephrased thesis in conclusion. Fresh words; same purpose.
SWITCH!

But before you do, write a strength & a weakness about this paper.

each statement should be about 10 words.
Write your name on this new paper as:

Language/Sentence: Montoya
Language

Identify if the paper you have has any of the following:

- Personal pronouns: You, we, I, us, etc.
- Addressing the audience; ie: asking a question.
- Slang
- Misspelling / abbreviated words
- Numbers are written out
  - For example: if it can be written in one or two words (fifteenth, eleven billion)
- Paraphrasing:
  - If you notice wording that seems a little advanced, mark it. Perhaps this is from a source and the student should paraphrase it more.
Sentence Structure

Take a quick glance and check for:

- Run on sentences
- Choppy sentences
- Punctuation errors:
  - Missing commas, semicolons, etc.
- No exclamation points (VERY FEW reasons to have it)
- Quotes are properly inserted:
  - “From the following,” stated by Hemingway.
That's it!

But before you return the paper, write a strength & a weakness about this paper.

each statement should be about 10 words.
Reflect
Jot down your thoughts...

1. Was the feedback helpful? Why or why not?
2. Did this help you understand the criteria?
3. What changes do you plan to make?